

REAL TRAUMA REQUIRES REAL SOLUTIONS.

When the trauma center at a prominent children's hospital recently admitted a 3-week-old baby they knew that the child's injuries required special care. The medical team suspected that the child had sustained spinal injuries. They knew to call Jerome and ask if there was a cervical device to fit the child's small frame.

The timing couldn't have been better, because Jerome was in the midst of releasing the Papoose their new infant cervical spine immobilizer (CTLSO), for children 0 to 3 months. This revolutionary new system is part of Jerome's Miami Jr. line of products, uniquely designed to maintain proper pediatric airway and spinal alignment.

To learn more about the Papoose and other products contact Jerome — Where Products, Education, Research, and Service combine to help you meet the Challenge of Cervical Spine Care.

