

THE OSSUR COMMITMENT

LOOKING FORWARD, PUSHING LIMITS AND CHANGING LIVES.

Through the design of quality products and the ability to challenge the unknown, we understand the commitment to provide the best in value, quality and service. It has always been our practice to push the limits and change lives so that everyone can achieve the greatest outcome of success.

Sarah Reinertsen is the first woman on a prosthesis to complete the Hawaii Ironman — one of the most grueling races in the world. The Flex-Foot® and Total Knee® 2100 allowed her to push the limits of what an amputee can do on artificial leg.

It's people like Sarah that drive us to further develop our technology. And it's our patients that inspire us to strengthen our relationships with practitioners.

This is The Ossur Commitment
